

Can a corporation be a landlord?

A corporation can be a landlord.

A corporation must act through its employees or officers, or can contract with an agent to act on its behalf.

Both the corporation and individual (employee, officer, agent) acting against the tenant can be held liable by the LTB.

